- Association for the Sciences of Limnology and Oceanography (ASLO)
- Coastal and Estuarine Research Federation (CERF)
- Freshwater Mollusk Conservation Society (FMCS)
- International Association for Great Lake Research (IAGLR)

This will include aquatic scientists and students at the graduate and undergraduate level; federal, tribal, state, and local administrators, directors, and elected officials; educators; consultants; and non-profits focused on aquatic conservation, and many, many more.

Meeting sessions, events, and the trade show will take place at the DeVos Place convention center located in downtown Grand Rapids. Two all-attendee Trade Show and Poster Networking Events, on Monday and Wednesday evenings, provide ideal opportunities for casual introductions and informal networking.

These forums are provided by JASM for you to communicate your most innovative and impactful aquatic science, fisheries, and conservation technology and techniques directly to our attendees!

Two complimentary conference registrations are included for booths rented at the full rate. These passes allow exhibitors to attend all conference sessions and functions, interact with attendees outside the Exhibit Hall, and gain information on industry issues.

Alternatively, two exhibitor-only badges are granted for each purchase of a nonprofit or crafter booth. The exhibitor-only badges grant access to the exhibit hall but do not grant access to conference sessions or other events. To gain full access to all the meeting's events, exhibitors at the nonprofit and crafter rates will need to purchase full registration.

Exhibitors at JASM will include federal and state conservation, environmental and natural resources agencies, companies providing field sampling and scientific equipment, universities and colleges, academic publishers, animal tagging and tracking equipment, computer and software applications, consultant services, water quality monitoring, hydroacoustic systems, and others related to aquatic research, conservation, and management. This historic event will be unparalleled, so do not miss it.
